2. Strategic policing and crime news

Home Office: New offence of police corruption.

It would cover cases in which a police officer acts improperly with a view to obtaining an advantage for themselves or someone else – or causing some form of detriment to someone else. It would also be used when an officer “fails to act” for a corrupt purpose, for example if they know a suspect did not commit a particular crime but hide that knowledge because they have a relationship with the guilty party. It says it would also apply when an officer threatens to do something, or not do something, for an improper purpose. The new offence would carry a maximum sentence of 14 years’ imprisonment. It would supplement the existing offence of misconduct in public office and is being brought forward as an amendment to the Criminal Justice and Courts Bill.

Ban on NBOMe and benzofurans comes into force
