- £160m additional spending on counter-terrorism policing in 2019/20
- £2bn increase in funding to provide comprehensive mental health A&E services over the next five years
- £935m additional spending on social care over the 2018/19 and 2019/20 period
- £60m funding for prisons, courts and justice system to develop the estate and improve safety and security
- £500m on preparations for Brexit, in addition to the £1.5 billion announced in 2017
- Confirmation of the £200m Youth Endowment Fund to help reduce youth involvement in violent crime
- Allocations to individual departments, including the Home Office will be made at Spending Review 2019
- Key announcements relevant to policing, criminal justice and other partner agencies included:
- Announcements on police spending will be made as part of the provisional police settlement in December
- Treasury also committed to supporting Government departments in ensuring rises in public service pension costs do not 'jeopardise the delivery of frontline services or put undue pressure on public employers'.

Serious and Organised Crime Strategy 2018 – 1 November 2018

Home Office launches update to the 2013 serious and organised crime (SOC) strategy, setting out the government's new strategic approach. The strategy is aligned to the four 'P's which aim to:-

- Pursue offenders, particularly those causing greatest harm, through prosecution and disruption - Provide at £48m additional funding in 2019/20 to increase law enforcement capabilities to tackle illicit finance. This will include additional investment in the multi-agency National Economic Crime Centre; increased frontline capacity and capability to tackle fraud and; extra investment National Crime Agency capabilities
- Prepare for and mitigate the impact of SOC by building the highest levels resilience among communities, businesses and vulnerable people. SOC Community Coordinators will be introduced in five priority areas
- Protect victims, organisations and systems from the harms of SOC
- Prevent people from engaging in SOC by identifying and supporting those at risk of involvement in SOC, better managing offenders that are unwilling to cease engaging in SOC and piloting new approaches
- The strategy also aims to establish a single whole system approach to SOC by establishing a new national tasking framework for law enforcement that will align collective efforts into a cohesive system involving the private sector, information and communications technology firms.
- The strategy also includes details of the package of measures to tackle child sexual exploitation and abuse announced by the Home Secretary in September, including an extra £21 million over the next two years.

4. REVIEWS AND INQUIRIES

Abusive and Offensive Online Communications – 1 November 2018

Law Commission scoping report assessing whether the current criminal law achieves parity of treatment between online and offline offending. The report concludes that, for the most part, online communications are criminalised to the same or even a greater degree than equivalent offline offending, however, there is scope to:-

- Better reflect the nature of some online offending behaviour and the degree of harm it can cause
- Improve the recognition of co-ordinated "pile on" harassment and certain forms of group abuse
- Address barriers which prevent some forms of harmful online conduct being pursued to the same extent
- Improve criminal offences so that they more effectively target serious harm and criminality
- Consolidate existing overlapping criminal laws and provide greater clarity regarding terminology
- Review of how effectively the criminal law protects personal privacy online.
